HOW DO WE KNOW OUR GENDER?

- Bodies

- our gender is assigned at birth, usually based on our external genitals
- this assignment doesn't tell us who we are, but it does give us some data to work with

- Socialization

- begins at birth
- reinforced through roles and expectations
- validation & punishment
- overt & subtle

- Internal sense of self

- solidifies between 18-36 months (but can change/grow throughout lifespan)
- evident or hidden
- challenged or validated

When did you realize who you were?

TRANSITIONING

In Canada, we have the right to express our gender in any way we wish. For some, this may mean transitioning in order to better match our gender identity with our gender expression. Ways that people can transition include:

- Social transition (dress, name, pronouns, etc.)
- Gender-affirming clinical care:
 - hormones
 - upper surgery
 - lower surgery
 - other 'feminizing' or 'masculinizing' procedures
